

Celebrate yourself this month.

In a month of candy hearts and flowers, it's a good time to show yourself some love. Here are a few ways to get started:

Take time to de-stress.

Whether it's working out, focusing on your hobbies or getting some extra sleep, take a moment to shake away the stress.

Treat yourself.

Show yourself some appreciation by treating yourself to something that you love.

Take a digital detox.

Being on social media can be exhausting. Schedule time away from the digital world and re-focus on what matters.

Talk it out.

When something is on your mind, talking about it can help. First Stop Health counselors are here for you.
